Sunday: Acts 13:14, 43-52; Ps 100:1-3, 5;
Rv 7:9, 14b-17; Jn 10:27-30

TODAY'S READINGS

Acts 5:27–32, 40b–41: The apostles openly give witness to the power of Jesus' name.

Psalms 30: "I will praise you, Lord, for you have rescued me."

Revelation 5:11–14: John declares the glory of Jesus, the Lamb of God.

John 21:1–19 or 21:1–14: The risen Christ welcomes his own at the seashore.

In the first reading, Saint Peter courageously faces down the Sanhedrin when they try to forbid the disciples from preaching and teaching in Jesus' name. The Gospel reveals that Jesus himself gave Peter that courage by leading him to profess his love for him three times, as he had lacked that courage when denying Jesus three times. May we realize that Jesus constantly invites us to reconciliation as well, instilling in us the courage to spread the Good News.

A MESSAGE FROM DEACON JOE ...

Last week's homily on Pope Francis ...

Today is the Second Sunday of Easter and Divine Mercy Sunday. Last Monday we lost a truly holy and humble man. Pope Francis used Jesus's approach To save the world rather than condemn it and welcomed everyone, everyone, everyone, as he used to say. He asked those in power to care for those who had none.

Pope Francis said "God's mercy is our liberation and our happiness. We live for mercy, and we cannot afford to be without mercy. It is the air that we breathe. We are too poor to set any conditions. We need to forgive, because we need to be forgiven."

Mercy, he said, is "the air we breathe," meaning that without mercy it would be impossible to live. In a homily he gave during one of his morning Masses in April 2014, Pope Francis said: quote "How many of us perhaps deserve a condemnation! And it would be just. But He forgives! How? With mercy that does not erase the sin: it is only the forgiveness of God that erases it, while mercy goes beyond that. It is like the sky: we look at the sky, so many stars, but when the sun comes in the morning with so much light, the stars are no longer seen. So it is with God's mercy: a great light of love, of tenderness, because God forgives not with a decree, but with a caress." End quote.

Maybe that's the deeper invitation of our Gospel reading today. Resurrection isn't proven by an empty tomb or a scarred body. It shows itself in transformed lives—disciples moving from fear to courage, from silence to witness. It's seen in people who forgive when it's hard, who serve without being thanked, who love when it costs them something.

Belief isn't just accepting a story. It's about living it. And that kind of life leaves marks.

If we call ourselves Christian but lock ourselves in rooms of fear and self-protection—if we take food or medicine from the poor, deny people their rights or dignity, or close our hearts to those in need—then we betray the very Gospel we profess. The truest evidence of the Resurrection is not in what we say, but in how we live—whether we embody the peace, justice, and mercy of the One who still bears the wounds of love.

We bear those wounds, too.

The ache of grief, the fatigue of caring, the heartbreak of watching others suffer. The daily effort to stay tender in a world that rewards hardness. The vulnerability of forgiving, of staying, of showing up again and again. These are not signs of failure. They're signs that love has taken root in us.

And yet...some days, I am weary. I could just weep. The struggle isn't over—it may just be beginning. But even then, Jesus comes. Not after we've figured it all out, but right in the middle of the mess. He comes through locked doors. He breathes peace. He shows his wounds. And he invites us to believe—not because it all makes sense, but because love still lives.

And if you find yourself doubting, grieving, barely holding on—you are not alone. The Risen Christ is near. In the tiredness. In the tears. In the quiet, stubborn hope that maybe—just maybe—love will rise again. Remember Pope Francis' words, "God's mercy is the air that we breathe, it is the caress of His forgiveness. Let's make it part of our life as often as we can.

As we continue through this Easter season, let us take the lessons and devotions we learned and practiced this past Lent and grow in our spirituality—so as to give proper worship to the Lord.

TEDDY'S CORNER

Beautiful
Teddy!

Words to Ponder ...

The walls of hospitals have heard more honest prayers than churches.

They have witnessed far more sincere kisses than those in airports.

It is in hospitals that you see a homophobe being saved by a gay doctor.

A privileged doctor saving the life of a beggar.

In intensive care, you see a Jew taking care of a racist.

A police officer and a prisoner in the same room receiving the same care.

A wealthy patient waiting for a liver transplant ready to receive the organ from a poor donor.

It is in these moments when the hospital touches the wounds of people that different worlds intersect according to a divine design and in this communion of destinies, we realize that alone we are nothing.

The absolute truth of people, most of the time, only reveals itself in moments of pain or in the real threat of an irreversible loss.

A hospital is a place where human beings remove their masks and show themselves as they truly are in their purest essence.

This life will pass quickly, do not waste it fighting with people.

Do not criticize your body too much. Do not complain excessively.

Do not lose sleep over bills. Make sure to hug your loved ones.

Do not worry too much about keeping the house spotless.

Material goods must be earned by each person - do not dedicate yourself to accumulating an inheritance.

You are waiting for too much: Christmas, Friday, next year, when you have money, when love arrives, when everything is perfect. Listen ... perfection does not exist.

A human being cannot attain it because we are simply not made to be fulfilled here.

Here we are given the opportunity to learn.

So make the most of this trial of life - and do it now.

Respect yourself, respect others.

Walk your own path and let go of the path others have chosen for you.

Respect: do not comment, do not judge, do not interfere.

Love more,
forgive more,
embrace more,
live more intensely!
And leave the rest in the hands of the Creator.

The Sisters of St. Dominic of Amityville Celebrate Annual Beauty of the Spirit Event

Our 24th Beauty of the Spirit event is scheduled for Thursday, June 12th at the Crest Hollow Country Club in Woodbury. This year's Keynote Speakers are S. Margaret Galiardi, OP, S. Ann Horn, OP and Dominican Associate Angela Belsole. Several years ago, these three amazing women began We Move Forward Together, an initiative of the Amityville Dominicans, which invites individuals and groups to connect through our existing ministries in prayer to explore spirituality, ecology, social justice, and community organization.

Each year our program celebrates the beauty of the spirit of women - their strength, compassion, and wisdom. Our guests enjoy fantastic auctions and raffles, as well as an inspirational lecture.

Proceeds from this year's luncheon are designated for our irrigation system project. In 2024, the Congregation signed documents with the Peconic Land Trust, creating an agricultural conservation easement on 10.4 acres of our Motherhouse grounds. We now have local farmers inquiring about leasing portions of the land. Possibilities for agriculture in varied forms – vegetables, wildflowers, native grasses, and more – are all being explored to continue our gratitude and appreciation for this natural resource. This irrigation system is essential for a consistent and controlled supply of water and will ensure that the land is conserved for farming current needs and generations to come.

For more information, please contact the Office of Advancement at 631-842-6000 ext. 246 or visit: <https://sistersofstdominic.org/2025luncheon>.

INTRODUCTION TO THE EUCHARISTIC PRAYER

In this meal we raise hearts and voices in thanksgiving, for Christ is truly risen.

INTRODUCTION TO THE LITURGY OF THE DAY

In the days and weeks that followed the Resurrection, the risen Lord kept appearing to his disciples when and where they least expected: in a locked room in Jerusalem, on the road to Emmaus, on the shore of the Sea of Tiberias. Each time, it took a while for them to recognize him. We often fail to recognize him as well, even though we know he continues to appear in our midst today. Whether in the person in need, in God's word, in the Eucharist, or in each other, let us be reminded that he continues to offer his presence to us every day.

TREASURES FROM OUR TRADITION

From the earliest centuries, we know that some Christian women desired to vow themselves to a celibate life to pray and serve. Some, but by no means everyone, wanted a kind of monastic life. Others wanted to stay in the family home. By the fourth century, the church was celebrating the "Consecration of Virgins," a rite performed by the bishop, and involving a "veiling" of the woman. It was looked upon as a form of marriage with Christ, partly because in the culture of the day a woman's status in society was linked to a man. The prayers and ritual for the consecration of virgins were exactly the same as the prayers and ritual for the consecration of a bride on her wedding day. The public character of the rite gave the bishop the opportunity to commend the virgin to the faithful, and to threaten with punishment anyone who tried to turn her from her commitment. Eventually, the rite fell into disuse for women living in the world, and was reserved for nuns. The Second Vatican Council directed that it be revived and restored, and in nearly every diocese, single women have embraced this form of consecrated life.

ICC Anti-Abuse Policy

No one is allowed to be abusive in any way to any parishioner, staff member, or member of any ministry at Immaculate Conception Church.

Anyone being rude or verbally abusive will be asked to leave the premises. While positive feedback is always welcome, any negative critique or opinion that is not kind in nature should be shared (directly or indirectly) with the Pastor, Fr. Ken. A good rule-of-thumb: If you can't say anything nice, don't say anything at all.
